STERN COLLEGE FOR WOMEN TO CELEBRATE

20th ANNIVERSARY MAY 1-4

* * *

Only School of its Kind Began With 33 Students,
Now Has Nearly 600; Growth, New Programs Continue

The dilemma it seemed, was basic. The biblical injunction was "Thou shalt teach thy sons." Never in a millenia were there guidelines as to how to structure a college for women under Jewish sponsorship, nor were there many who wished to change the traditional concept of the Jewish woman's prime responsibility, raising a family. To Dr. Samuel Belkin, president of Yeshiva University, and for the man who shared his dream, industrialist Max Stern, however, there were neither contradictions in responsibilities nor dilution of values. Instead, they contended, there would be a new opportunity to strengthen the role of the Jewish woman in the community and in family life through advanced Jewish studies combined with a liberal arts education.

YESHIVA UNIVERSITY GETS INITIAL $500,000 GIFT FROM MAX STERN TO OPEN COLLEGE FOR WOMEN

An initial gift of $500,000 by Max Stern of New York City to establish a College for Women at Yeshiva University was announced yesterday by Dr. Samuel Belkin, president.

The gift by Mr. Stern, who is president of Hartz Mountain Products and vice-chairman of the University's Board of Trustees, represents the largest single contribution to the institution in its 58-year history. It is also believed to be the largest gift of its kind to a Jewish educational institution, Dr. Belkin declared.

Dr. Belkin reported that the College will open this Fall in a mid-town location and will be called the Stern College for Women of Yeshiva University. He added that the acquisition of a new building would be announced shortly. The new Women's College will be patterned after the University's present College of Arts and Science, now entering its twenty-sixth year.

"The gift by Max Stern to establish a liberal arts college for women at Yeshiva University in memory of his parents Emanuel and Caroline Stern is an important step in advancing Jewish contributions to American higher education," Dr. Belkin said.

We, the class of 1975, have indeed shared many experiences during our years at Stern College. It all began with the unforgettable freshman dormitory registration in the lobby of 50 East 34th Street. Yes, these were the girls with whom we would share the "college experience".

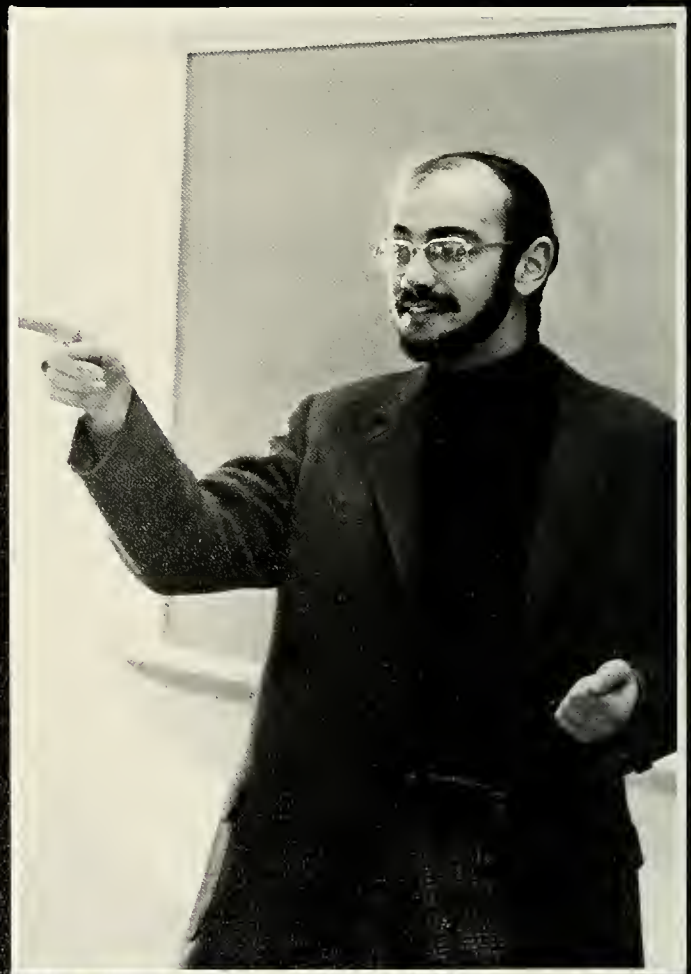

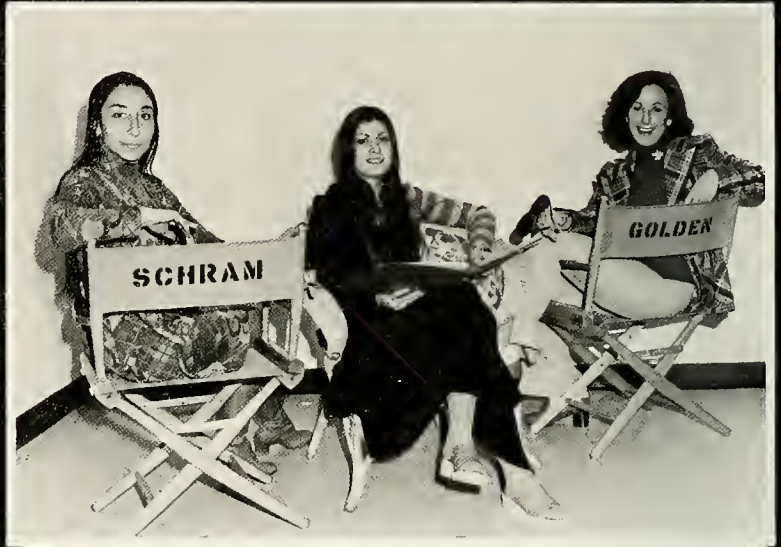

We soon found each other in the same classes, lectures, and attending the same extracurricular activities. We kept each other company in the study halls before exams, xeroxed each others notes, and came to each other's surprise parties.

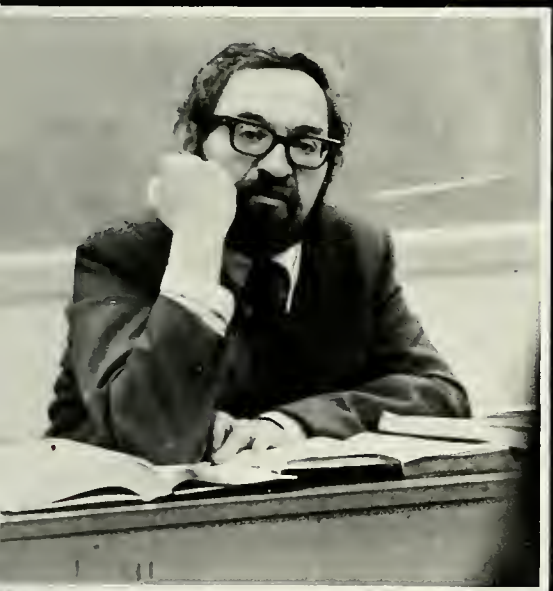

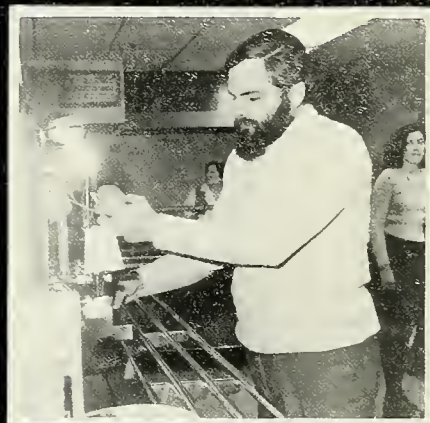

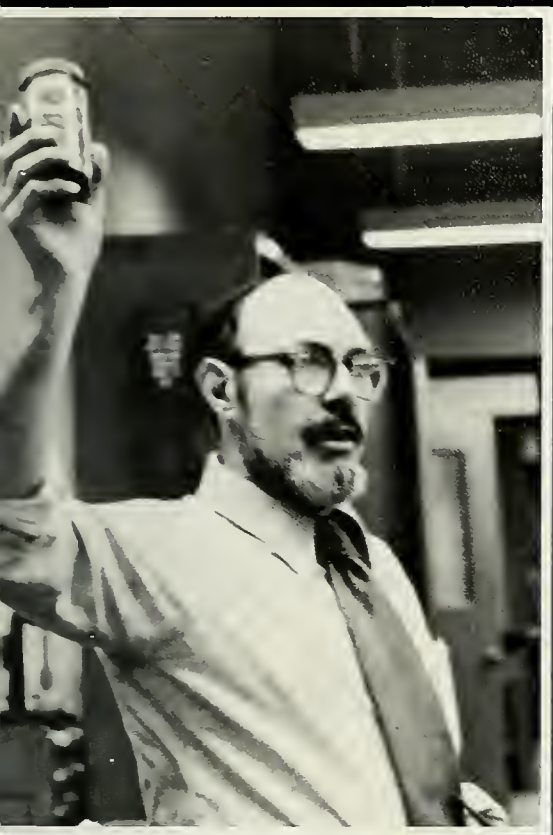

Now, after four years, we once again join together in marching down the aisle at graduation. As we look at each other in our caps and gowns, we cannot help but reflect the memories we share. Kochaviah '75 contains just a few of those memories. Whenever we turn these pages we will once again join together in reliving our days at Stern College.

I would like to extend my most sincere gratitude to all those who so willingly helped in the publication of Kochaviah '75. A very special thanks to Deina Shapiro who helped me at any time of day or night with whatever had to be done.

MESSAGE FOR KOCHAVIAH 1975

As you conclude your studies at Stern College for Women, I extend my sincerest congratulations for your past achievements and wish you every success in your future endeavors.

Graduating during the 20th anniversary year of the College, you are prepared to assume a productive role in society. In the days ahead, much of what you have learned — facts and formulas, names and dates — will fade from memory. More lasting than the details of any discipline are the precepts and values which you have imbibed here. This residue will determine the course of your life.

Your Alma Mater has offered you a unique opportunity for intellectual and spiritual development. Here the rich treasures of Judaism and the arts and sciences of Western civilization are perpetuated in one program. Stern College concentrates on the moral purposes of human knowledge while researching the mysteries of the universe, seeking a better understanding of the world in which we have been placed, attempting to achieve a greater appreciation of the lives and destinies of the people among whom we live.

This unparalleled foundation will prove invaluable. For it is you who are the guardians of our Torah traditions in the home. I trust that, under the guiding principles of our faith, you will go on to ever greater service to God and our fellow man.

Sincerely yours,

YESHIVA UNIVERSITY

253 Lexington Avenue / New York, N.Y. 10016 / (212) 255-5600

I am most pleased to offer greetings and congratulations to the Class of 1975 of Stern College for Women.

Your graduation during the School's twentieth anniversary is a most significant milestone in the history of the University and of American higher education. A pioneering endeavor, Stern College was at its founding the nation's first undergraduate liberal arts school for women established under Jewish auspices. From the outset its ongoing purpose has been to serve the needs of a very special kind of woman — one whose sense of personal fulfillment depends in large measure upon academic accomplishment in higher Judaic and general studies and upon the development of skills enabling her to contribute to the advancement of the goals of contemporary society while forwarding our heritage within the Jewish community.

During these past twenty years my deepest satisfaction has come from following the achievements in professional, communal and family life of our more than 1500 alumnae. As undergraduates the members of your class have demonstrated outstanding capabilities. I am confident that, in the tradition of your alumnae sisters, you will enhance the name of your alma mater by going on to pursuits which will afford you personal gratification and will serve as inspiration to those among your contemporaries who are struggling for self-definition in this era of transition for all women.

Sincerely,

Max Stern
Vice Chairman, Board of Trustees

OFFICE OF THE DEAN

Your class, the class of '75, marks another milestone in the history of Stern College. With your graduation, it might be said, Stern College has reached its majority, marking the twenty-first year of its existence.

When Stern College was begun it was viewed not merely as another college joining the ranks of institutions of higher learning in the United States, but as the fulfillment of an ideal. The woman, the Sages have taught us, is the one who determines what the Jewish home will be like, and the Jewish home is the cornerstone on which the Jewish future is to be raised. It is incumbent, then, upon the community of Jews who accept it as their responsibility to assure not only the physical but also the spiritual survival of the Jewish people to raise up women who can build homes that will insure the future of Israel. It was this high purpose that inspired the founders of Stern College. The accomplishments of the young women who have benefited from the unique educational program of Stern College have proven that the conception of its founders was a sound and true one, and that their hopes and ideals have been realized.

You now join the ranks of the alumnae of Stern College, who have already accomplished so much and won such a significant name and place in the community at large. We are sure that you will continue to contribute as they have, and lend additional luster to their record of accomplishments. Our best wishes go with you as you accept your degree from us and move on to continued studies, into professional life, and join the builders of Jewish American life. It is our sincere hope that you will continue to remain attached to Stern College, that we will have the pleasure of welcoming you back into our halls, and we look forward to sharing with you the pride that inevitably will be yours by virtue of your accomplishments and your great contributions to the welfare of our people. Alu Vehatzlichu.

Rabbi Yose ben Kisma said: I was once travelling on the road when a man met me and greeted me, and I returned his greeting. He said to me: "Rabbi, from what place are you?" I said to him: "I come from a great city of sages and scholars." He said to me: "Rabbi, are you willing to live with us in our place? I will give you a million golden dinars, and precious stones and pearls." I told him: "Where you to give me all the silver and gold and precious stones and pearls in the world, I would not live anywhere except in a place of Torah."

Pirkai Avot, 6:9
